Claudia Raine

As a Peak Performance Consultant focusing on Career Development she helps people stop feeling like they are doing time at their job and move to a job that they love. Her mission is to reduce the number of people (currently 87% of the population) that are unsatisfied with their job and raising awareness around it to create a more positive world. Prior to becoming certified with Gallup Strengths Finder, she worked as a Global Program Manager for Leadership programs, as part of Human Resources in Top 5 Pharma Company. She owns a degree in International Relations and is a committee member of the Professional Women Group in Basel, co-chairing the Women Entrepreneur group. In her free time, she is passionate about gamification and solving puzzles. She escaped from over 50 escape rooms in 17 cities.

Her strengths are: Maximizer, Activator, Communication, Woo and Positivity; and she loves helping others to find their strengths.

Sina Mehl

Sina is originally from Germany, has a degree in Business Economics and Psychology, and is a certified trainer. As in everybody else's life, her life is full of ups and downs and setbacks. However, her curiosity for the things life has to offer, made her come up with a new plan B for every failed plan A. 3 years ago, she decided to do only jobs or projects which excite her the most and feel right in that moment. Through that, she experienced many different jobs and found out what she truly wants to do. Sina loves to bring like-minded people together who learn from one another, and through that tap deeper into their own truth as well. So, Sina organized and facilitated several successful self-development events for hundreds of people from all over the world. It also brought her from Berlin to Lucerne where she currently works as a trainer and coach with the Inside Out Movement.

All her activities are focused on creating a world, where people embrace authenticity and therefore self-awareness as the most powerful way of growing themselves and their businesses.

Olga Quesada

Olga was raised in Cuba where her mom still lives today. Passionate about inspiring others she decided to become a teacher. After she got married she moved to the Bahamas where she worked as a Spanish teacher. She speaks 5 languages: English, Spanish, Italian, German and Korean. When life brought her to Basel she started to work for the Swiss International School. She did that for 6 years before she decided that there is more to her life than teaching. She is passionate about marketing and just started studying again. She is a writer, producer of the Know-how Podcast Series for the Professional Women Group Basel, an Instagram magician, uses it to teach languages and part of the cast in the Vagina Monologues 2018 to empower women. She is modest, at the same time powerful and so much fun to be around. Something special about her: She loves Korean drama.
